Selections Where Organizations
Cannot Agree—Sketch of C. Orrick Bishop.

Most of the men who will be appointed as judges, shired, their change to Congress having been secured upon favorably by Mr. Dickinson himself and the committee from their respective wards, represent the various parties of the State. The Committee. In several of the wards, however, the candidates are so numerous that the committee are continuing to work themselves with one or more candidates at a time, and it is estimated that the process will be a hith and a hitch has resulted, their side being willing to forego its claim. This is notably the case in the wards of the first and fourth. Nineteenth, Twenty-third and Twenty-fifth. It is estimated that the process will be so involved, that it is possible a dark horse may be selected, leaving the Committee out of the race. Blinn, of South St. Louis, may be appointed execution clerk, the most important position at the Courthouse. But Mr. Dickmann is non-committal on the subject, beyond saying that his appointments will be made public by December 15.

Joseph W. Folk, Circuit Attorney elect, has also been named, declared from his appointment as his own assistant. He will make his known December 15. It is said tively decided, however, by those in a position to know, that neither Ben Clark nor C. J. Noland had any chance. The race has narrowed down to Andrew C. Maroney and Thomas T. Riedelge, both of whom are attorneys at law on the city premises, but it is understood that Mr. Maroney, who is one of the hardest working men in the city, will be the successful man.

Deputy Coroner Fitzsimmons Chased by the City Hall Gang.

John J. Fitzsimmons, deputy coroner, who had an uncomfortable and embarrassing experience yesterday with a crowd of riotous Republican officeholders at the city hall.

Fitzsimmons had occasion to feed the horses in the stable at the city hall, and he telephoned the livery stable to hitch on the rig and send it over to the city hall. When the rig came, he entered the office and announced that the rig was hitched outside. Fitzsimmons at once fastened the harness and secured the hitching strap, and prepared to jump into the buggy.

As he stepped into the vehicle he heard a wild shout behind him, and, looking around, saw a couple of men in a window on the second floor of the city hall waving their arms wildly and shouting such words unintelligible to him. He turned about and saw a crowd of men, friendly welcome to come one across the street, and, without more ado, he checked the horse and started off. He turned the horse to the north, he heard the shouting increase to such a degree that he turned the horse around, and the fourth floor alive with white-skinned men, all shouting and gesticulating violently at him. He turned the horse around and drove down, or each of the three entrances.

Artist Anders Zorn's suit against H. Clay Pierce for $2500 for painting three portraits is to be decided by a jury of St. Louis county residents. The decision was rendered upon yesterday when the case was called in Judge Faber's court. The attorneys for the defense obtained a change of venue, asserting that the people of St. Louis are prejudiced against their client.

When Attorney Frederick W. Lehmann and Charles Nagel, who represent Zorn, learned that the jury had been changed, they waited the special jury that had been ordered at the trial. When the jury was called, the order was withdrawn, which was done. This step was taken to prevent the jury from being prejudiced against Zorn. When a special jury is summoned, the party other than the one bringing the suit has the right to demand a change of venue. It is alleged that there is prejudice against him in the venue.

It is not known, however, that the waiving of the special jury did not have reached there Mrs. Stevens said she wanted to ask advice about a lawsuit. She said she had been told by three persons the night before that she was anxious to prosecute them. Mr. Stevens asked her whether they were colored or white, and knew nothing about its proceeding and returned home. When she reached there she found her house had been entered. Her trunk had been torn open, and four purses containing $200 which she carried around her waist and never kept out of sight, were missing.

Detective Lawson promptly arrested Mrs. Higgins and Mr. Stevens, but they declared they knew nothing of any robbery. They said they merely wanted to obtain Mrs. Pearson's opinion.

Among them were James A. Buchanan and his assistant, William H. Taggart. ### TEN PRISONERS PLEAD GUILTY

All Are Sentenced in the Criminal Court.

Ten pleas were received in the two divisions of the Criminal Court yesterday. George Fitzgerald, charged with entering the home of Adolph Ballowsky, at 2888 13th Avenue, on the afternoon of August 1, and stealing a lot of jewelry, pleaded guilty to grand larceny with a sentence of two years in the penitentiary.

Charles Cleveland, guilty to stealing of the latter's home, at No. 365 Ridge avenue, on the night of August 25. He was indicted on a charge of murder in the first degree. At his trial the jury failed to agree and the case was continued until last Monday. The jury returned a verdict of manslaughter in the first degree and received a sentence of seven years. The plea was received by the court on Monday. The trial was dated from October 9, 1888, giving him an advantage of a year and a half, which time he has spent in the penitentiary. He is now under his sentence and is given the advantage of the thirty-month rule, which now proves valuable. He will have a year more.

Subject in the Powers Inquest.

In the inquest yesterday on the body of Mrs. Maggie Powers, who was killed by a Seventh street car at the crossing of Raleigh street, the coroner's jury returned a verdict in reply to a question put by the coroner as to the kind of fenders it was by the street car lines.

The jury was crossing the street when the car struck her and knocked her down. The evidence showed that the fender passed over her head and struck her on the back of the head.

Dr. Robert A. Mathis, president of the Board of Public Improvements, as a witness, to discuss the matter, said that the board had no authority to collect for the fenders on the Seventh street line had never been approved by the board according to the city charter, and that it even been referred for inspection.

Lee Macanagie, market mechanic for the city, said that he had seen different kinds of fenders, but did not know whether the fender had ever been approved by the board.
